LOGAN & ANDERSON BROS., LANCASTER, KY.

Mountain Scenery.
One of the principal charms of mountain scenery is its solitude—Ruskin.

Or Cellars.
Some people can't even build castles in the air without adding wings to them.—Cartoon.

Proving Puck's Remark.
Many a small man carries around a big opinion of himself.—Boston Transcript.

Sandpapering Paint.
In removing old paint dampens the sandpaper with benzine and the work can be accomplished in a trice.

So We've Noticed.
The lazier a man is the more he is going to do tomorrow.—Boston Transcript.

Flavor for Wines.
Greeks and Romans flavor their wines by steeping the leaves of violets and roses in the liquor until it acquires the odor.

Jem Mac's Record.
One of the most remarkable records in the annals of pugilism was that of Jem Mac, who lost two contests out of 500.

Or a "Situation."
When a statesman runs into a brick wall and sees no way to get over or under, he emits a few sharp yells and calls it a crisis.—Baltimore Sun.

Watch Expenditures.
If he who is always hard up will but keep a record of his expenditures he may find that he is more lacking in sense than in dollars.

Well, Isn't That Correct?
Toledo Blade—"It's the belief of some that when a Bovine and a dictionary disagree, it's the dictionary that's wrong."—Boston Transcript.

Locating the Heart.
"Home is where the heart is," remarked the man of sentiments. "Yes," commented Mr. Blodoo; "but I wish my landlord wouldn't keep my heart in my mouth."

Jud Tunkins.
Jud Tunkins says the old-time statesman who sat down and wrote out his speeches with a pen wouldn't stand any chances whatever in these days of handshaking.

What He Meant.
It is probably easier to explain that the drunks who displayed a sign, "Buy It With a Smile in Its Window," was referring to ice cream.—Lynn Item.

Have Faith in Cross of Honey.
On the island of Rhodes the husband traces a cross in honey over the door before his new bride enters the house, and this little operation is said to guarantee their eternal happiness.

Remarkable Wild Flower.
Hungary grows a wild flower which is the exact floral image of a human bird. The breast is green, the throat yellow, the head and neck black.

Turning the Luck.
In Yorkshire country folk cross their thumbs "to turn the luck" should they meet a single magpie. In Scotland a magpie seen near a dwelling is believed to portend death to one of the inmates.

Beginning of Ballooning.
To inclose smoke in a bag so that it would lift the bag with its own ascending power, was the idea of the paper makers, the brothers Mongolfier, and they got so far in their invention as to cause the bag which they invented to rise to the ceiling, and improving upon this they invented a machine that was a balloon, and was the forerunner of the inflammable air balloon.

Color Note.

"The sound of a trumpet is singular," sings a poet. Not the usual trumpet, that's blue.—Boston Transcript.

In His Favorite Language.

"An altruist, Tommy, is one who subjugates his own interest to the interest of his fellow man." "I got you. He's a guy what makes a sacrifice hit!"—Boston Transcript.

Movement of Solar System.

Astronomers agree on the fact that the sun is moving through space toward a point in Lyra with a velocity of about 12 miles a second. The whole solar system is necessarily involved in this motion.

How Do You Know?

Yes, Herman, it is a true saying that if you put the two men in the same bed, one with the toothache and the other in love, the man with the toothache will go to sleep first.—Hannibal Herald.

Savages Poor Physically.

The natives of the African jungle, instead of being the lusty savages of imagination, are for the most part physically below par. The majority of them are malnourished and diseased and marked physical defects are common.

One of Nature's Acrobats.

The weasel has been called the acrobat of nature and performs every kind of acrobatic feat. The bloodthirsty little villain is no coward. It will attack human beings. The weasel can climb as easily as run and is at home on any surface.

Different Kinds of Hickory.

Twelve kinds of hickory are found in the world, eleven of them indigenous to the United States east of the Rocky mountains, and one Mexican species. Previous to the ice age, extensive forests of hickory existed in Greenland.

Sunday Her Unlucky Day.

Empress Eugenie is said to have been haunted by a dread of Sundays. September 3, 1876, the day the mob invaded the Tuilleries, was a Sunday; it was on a Sunday that she learned the news of the death of the prince imperial, and she herself died on a Sunday.

Painting on Spider Web.

Painting on spider web is done in Norway and the pictures are framed like any other drawing. The webs employed which are of a very dense weave are found only in few localities difficult of access and the supply of them is limited.

China's Mail Service.

In the interior of China except in a few districts, there is no regular letter delivery, and consequently no postmen. But many of the officials maintain semipublic services of their own and keep their manners up to the mark by simple expedients known best to the Chinese.

Fishy.

Exasperated though she was with her husband for showing himself "infirm of purpose," we don't believe Lady Macbeth called her husband "a poor fish"—though a country newspaper quotes her as exclaiming: "Infirm old porpoise, give me the dagger!"—Louisville Herald.

Chinese Barber.

The Chinese are not accustomed to tipping the barber. As a matter of fact the Chinese barber is very modest in his prices, and his patrons can obtain a hair cut, a head shave, a face shave, and in addition have his shoulders and back massaged, all for a sum total of less than 5 cents. The straight razor used by Chinese barbers is a triangular shaped blade with straight handle, folding up as does the American straight razor. The blades are made from old rails or any other crude steel which has utilized its usefulness in other directions.

Women Success as Foresters.

In the conventions and gatherings of persons identified with the lumber industry which have taken place recently women have played an important part. They are said to make excellent foresters where the pursuit is congenital.

Ghoulish.

A set of small dice supposed to have been cut from the molar teeth of a notorious French criminal and professional gambler, who died by the guillotine, together with a dice box made from a tongue-shaped piece of his skin, was one of the curiosities disposed of by a Paris curio dealer.

Absurd Aviation Theory.

Cavallo, who writes about 1785, makes frequent allusion to the irrational attempts and false theories advanced by the projectors of flying instruments. One writer suggests that a great number of eggshells shall be filled with dew, for as the sun rarefies the dew it will ascend and carry with it the egg shells which would rise together with some other weight attached.

The Raccoon.

The rascoon, or even, as he is more commonly called in the United States, where he makes his home, has the odd habit of dipping his food in water, as if to wash it perfectly clean, before eating. Coons den up for the winter like bears, sometimes singly, sometimes several together as if for company, in a hollow tree or other convenient place.

Speedy Animals.

Two of the fastest of the smaller animals are the greyhound and the jack rabbit. The greyhound can go at the rate of 32 miles an hour, while his cousin, the Russian wolfhound, can beat him by five miles and has much greater powers of endurance. The greyhound like the horse, digs in with his forefeet and uses his front legs for pulling as well as pushing with his hind legs. The jack rabbit's front legs are only crutches, but like the antelope, he makes up for it by the power of his hind legs.

Porpoise a Fast Swimmer.

There is another animal that is so fast no one has ever been able to find out how fast he is. This is the porpoise. The porpoise can do stunts in front of the fastest boat that travels the bounding wave and when he is through after several hours of churning he lifts his tail and nonchalantly speeds beyond the horizon. The porpoise will do his tricks under the bow of a nine-knot cargo ship or a 22-knot ocean greyhound. He is like the antelope in that he sets his pace according to the speed of the pursuer.

Where They Came From.

The fig seems to have originated round the Mediterranean, particularly in Syria. The grape is native in southern Europe, Algeria, Morocco and western Asia. The red currant grows wild all over Europe, in the Caucasus, the Himalayas, Manchuria, Japan and America. The walnut comes from the Caucasus, Persia and northern India. The sweet orange originated in southern China and Corfu, China. The citron is of Indian origin.

"Civic Green."

This was merely a wreath of oak leaves with pinecones and acorns, one of the most highly vaunted honors a Roman could attain. It was given for saving the life of a comrade in battle at the same time killing the opponent and maintaining the ground upon which the fight took place. One to whom it was given had a right to wear it always.

Oyster Gatherers.

It takes 6,000 laborers to supply the American public with its customary first dinner course, says Luther C. Fry, writing in World's Work. This force includes entire families, as well as single men. The father works on the boats which gather the oysters by dredging or tonging. His wife and children can and prepare them for market.

Power in Solitude.

Solitude is the soil of solemn thoughts and great deeds. Moses tends sheep on the lonely heights for years before he beholds the Burning Bush. He climbs Sinai alone to write the tables of the law. Cromwell follows the plow as a Huntington farmer until he is forty. Then he steers the Puritan revolution which begot these United States.—Boston Herald.

To Whiten Doorsteps.

The following preparation for whitening doorsteps is a great labor-saver, as only very hard rain will remove it. Place one pound of powdered glue in a saucers, with one and one-half pints of water, and melt over a slow fire. When dissolved, add one pound of powdered whiting, stirring it gradually. Pour this mixture on the steps with a strong brush, and if it is too stiff add a little more water.

Safeguarding the Children.

Frederick Burlington, American explorer, just returned from central Borneo, tells of methods employed by natives to protect young children from wild boar, bear, constrictors, and poisonous insects. The children are swathed in garments and swing on rattan vines suspended between trees. Crocodiles take a large toll of children in Borneo, says the explorer, despite precautions taken.

New Artificial Silk.

Animal muscular fiber is the peculiar material of our artificial silk. The cementing material is dissolved away, and the separated fiber is then strengthened in a suitable liquid. Fibers several inches long are said to have been obtained. These are woven in the usual way, and if desired, the fabric may be waterproofed by impregnation with rubber. Such silk is claimed to be not very expensive, and adapted for such purposes as insulation and balloon cloth.

Stingiest Person.

A man in our neighborhood recently became independent by receiving a good position and at the end of the first week his father presented him with a bill containing the expense of the young man ever since he was born, including the expense of the attending physician when he came into the world; this was all added up and compound interest was charged. The boy without a murmur has begun to pay it all back to his father. The amount would buy a nice home.—Chicago American.

Age and Development.

Study of the relation between the total length of life and the time required to reach maturity has brought out an interesting comparison between men and horses. A horse at five years old is said to be, comparatively, as old as a man at twenty, and doubtless may be expected to live, according to equine standards, after the manner of the average college student following human standards. A ten-year-old horse resembles, so far as age and experience go, a man of forty, while a horse that has attained the ripe age of thirty-five is comparable with a man of ninety.

The One Absorbing Topic.

The reason some people don't talk more than they do is that they can't think of anything to say about themselves.—Boston Transcript.

House Fly's Wonderful Eye.

"The eye of a common house fly has 4,000 facets, and it may be that each facet registers a complete image. If this is true," says Miss Booth, the eminent photo-micrographer, "the fly sees everything reproduced 4,000 times—a rather dizzying experience."

Revolutionary Rule.

According to the midwest column of a weekly paper, a person suffering from exhaustion should be put to bed and allowed to sleep as long as possible. This evidently does away with the old idea of awaking the sufferer every twenty minutes in order to ask him if he is still tired.

"Between Devil and Deep Sea."

The phrase "between the devil and the deep sea" has probably no reference to the actual fighting between the British and the Boers, though undoubtedly it has long been in use in Scotland. Its origin would appear to be lost in obscurity, though possibly it may have some reference to the New Testament story of the swine of Gadara.

Explaining the Change.

Little Betsy, her mother, and new daddy returned to the city after living on a ranch for several months. The child went to visit the Sunday school she had attended before she went away. The teacher was much surprised to see her and exclaimed: "Well, if here isn't Betsy McCann!" With a very dignified gesture the child replied: "No, this isn't Betsy McCann—it's Betsy Bryant, my mamma and I got married again."

Poverty and Splendor.

I saw many poor, whom I supposed to live in affluence. Poverty has in large cities, very different appearances; it is often concealed in splendor, and often in extravagance. It is the care of a great part of mankind to conceal their indigence from the rest; they support themselves by temporary expedients and every day is lost in scheming for the morrow.—Dr. Samuel Johnson.

New Artificial Silk.

Animal muscular fiber is the peculiar material of our artificial silk. The cementing material is dissolved away, and the separated fiber is then strengthened in a suitable liquid. Fibers several inches long are said to have been obtained. These are woven in the usual way, and if desired, the fabric may be waterproofed by impregnation with rubber. Such silk is claimed to be not very expensive, and adapted for such purposes as insulation and balloon cloth.

The Fast Age.

"The world never moved so fast before," mused Mr. Simmons. "We have winter ice on the Fourth of July, spring vegetables on Christmas; we buy our straw hats in February and our felt hats in August; we get our Sunday paper on Saturday night, and our magazines a month ahead of time. If we telephone a man in San Francisco from New York, he hears our voice about four hours before we speak; and if some one in Japan sends us a telegram tomorrow, we get it today."

Raysures of Tuberculosis.

Tuberculosis is a house disease. As Doctor Allred says: "The stalled cow, the penned sheep, the tamed rabbit, the snoring, the caged lion, the tiger or the elephant, are almost invariably cut off by tubercular affection." This disease has existed from remote antiquity, and one estimates the number of lives it has cost him to form some conception of the terrible price humanity has paid to learn that men and animals need pure air instead of poisons to keep up.

Simplicity.
In character, in manners, in style, in all things, the supreme excellence is simplicity.—Langford.

Education.

Education is the leading of human souls to what is best and making what is best out of them, and these two objects are always attainable together and by the same means. The training which makes men happiest in themselves also makes them most serviceable to others.—Ruskin.

New Ocean Danger.

Little Harold, 5, was swimming at the lake shore. He overheard his older brother remark about the terrific undertow near the pier. The next day his mother went into the water and Harold screamed at her from the shore: "Oh, mother, don't go in there, there's a big undertow there and it might bite you."

An Egyptian Orchestra.

A full Egyptian orchestra was composed of twenty harps, eight lutes, five or six tyros, six or seven double pipes, five or six flutes, one or two pipes (rarely wood), two or three tambourines (sabidum used). If vocalists were added, which was not necessarily the rule, they would number about three-fourths as many as the harpers.
